

Vermont Electric Cooperative Co-op Community Solar Terms and Conditions

1. Community Solar Program

VEC offers to make available sponsorships of generation panels at the Co-op Community Solar Project located on Route 78 in Alburgh, Vermont (“Solar Project”). The Solar Project will be owned, operated, maintained, and insured by VEC’s partner SoCore VT Alburgh LLC. VEC has rights to all the output from the Solar Project.

2. Eligible Participants

The program is entirely voluntary and is open to all VEC members; however, VEC reserves the right to limit participation based on availability of Solar Project panels.

3. Commitments and Obligations

A participant may elect either a 10 or 20-year sponsorship with an upfront payment based on the number of panels sponsored. VEC will provide a fixed monthly solar energy credit determined by the sponsorship period (10 or 20 years) and the number of panels sponsored. VEC will make available, at the participant’s option, financing through a third party finance company.

Residential, small commercial, and public participants may sponsor sufficient panels to provide solar energy credits equal to the participant’s annual bill charges; larger commercial and industrial participants may sponsor up to 67 panels for the 10-year program and up to 60 panels for the 20-year program, OR sufficient panels to provide solar energy credits equal to the participant’s annual bill charges, whichever is smaller.

4. Environmental Attributes

A participant’s share of the environmental attributes acquired by VEC from the Solar Project shall be retained and retired by VEC and used to meet VEC’s renewable distributed energy requirements under Act 56. The participant’s share will be determined by dividing the capacity of the number of panels sponsored by the total capacity of the Solar Project.

“Environmental attributes” means any and all rights, credits, benefits, emissions reductions, offsets, and allowances resulting from the environmental or renewable characteristics or attributes of the Solar Project or the avoidance of the emission of any gas, chemical, or other substance to the air, soil, or water, which are deemed of value by VEC, in each case now or hereafter created or recognized by any governmental authority or independent certification association or entity generally recognized in the electric power generation industry and generated by or associated with the Solar Project. Environmental attributes include Renewable Energy Certificates (RECs).

5. Solar Energy Credit

VEC shall calculate the participant’s monthly meter account billing in the same manner that it normally does absent participation in the Co-op Community Solar Program. Once the bill is calculated, VEC will apply the solar energy credit to any and all charges on the participant’s bill, including customer charges, energy charges, energy efficiency charges, and street light charges,

EXCEPT that the solar energy credit shall not be used to pay a participant’s third-party loan payment.

If netting the credit against the participant’s VEC charges does not use the entire credit, the remaining balance of the credit shall appear on the participant’s bill for succeeding billing periods and shall be applied against VEC’s charges during those periods. Unused credits will accumulate until such time as they are used. The participant will not receive a payment for any excess solar energy credit.

6. Term and Early Termination

This agreement shall be effective on the date of the first bill to the participant after receipt by VEC of (1) signed Terms and Conditions and (2) the participant’s sponsorship payment. It will continue for a period of 10 or 20 years, depending on the participant’s chosen contract length.

A participant can choose to terminate this agreement early for any reason, by providing written notification at least 30 days in advance of the desired end date. VEC will process the request for termination within 30 days. VEC will compensate the participant for the remaining value of sponsorship payment, in accordance with the terms outlined as follows:
